PLOT:

Jason lives rent-free in a house owned by older criminal Brian Heder in Key Lento. In exchange for this he assists Brian in extorting local businesses and drug smuggling along with his friend Cal Hampton. At some point, Jason picks Lucia up from prison after she was arrested for something to do with fighting for her family. Lucia performs community service and has to wear an ankle monitor while they both live at the Key Lento safehouse. At some point, Lucia's ankle monitor is removed.

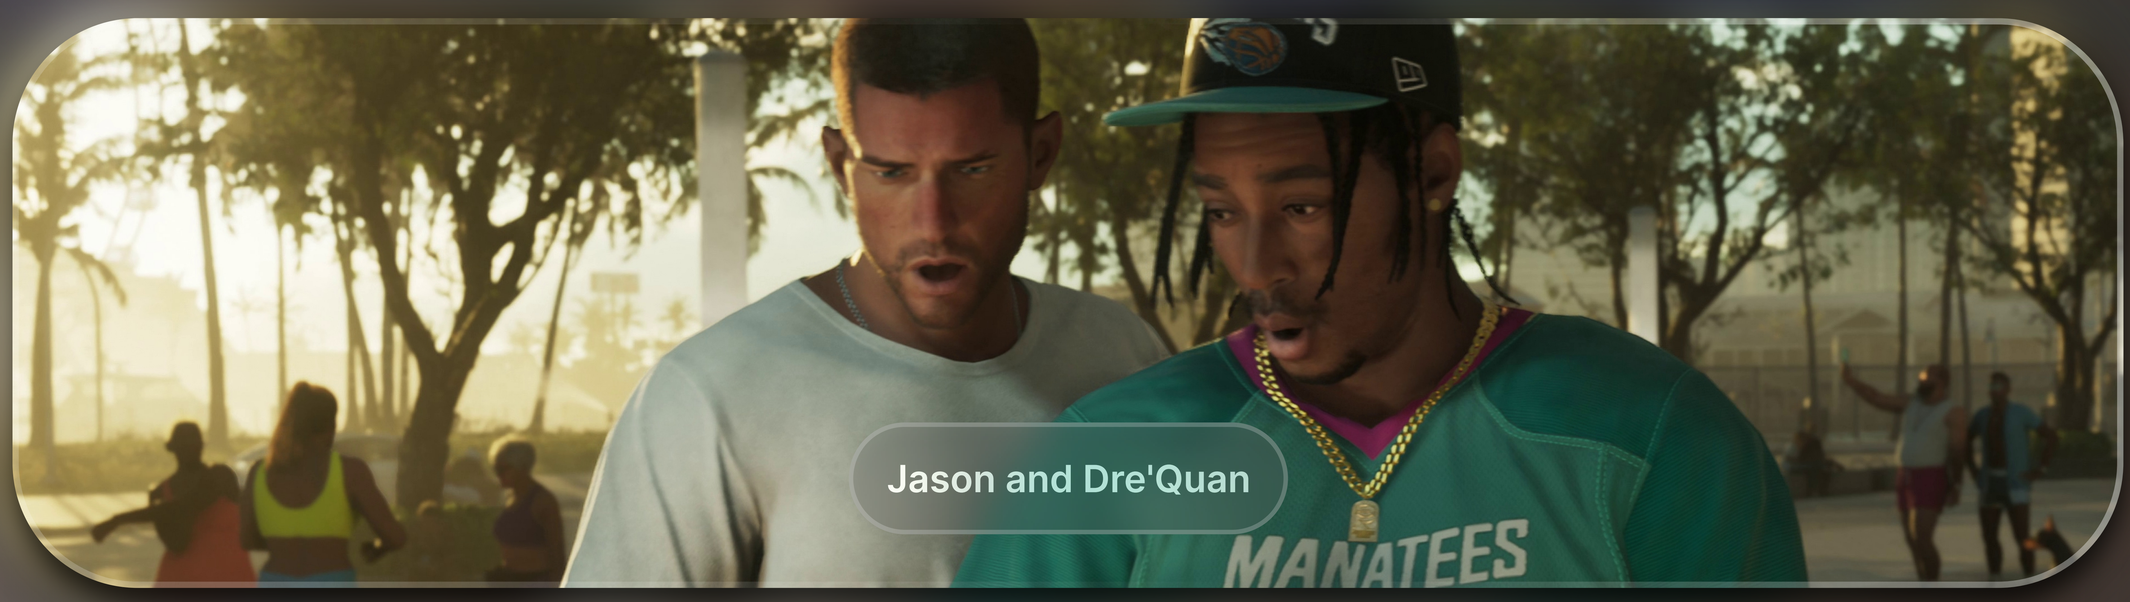

Lucia's ankle monitor

Jason and Cal doing work for Brain

The following text is story speculation based on Trailer 1, Trailer 2, and the September 2022 leaked footage.

Jason and Lucia leave Key Lento after Brian informs him that an unknown group knows his name and address. It is likely that they flee to Port Gellhorn and use a room in the Starlet Motel as a safehouse, carrying out a spree of robberies against local businesses (such as Hank's Waffles and Uncle Jack's Liquor) until something happens forcing them out of the Starlet Motel, leading them to Vice City. In Vice City, they begin to work with criminals Boobie Ike, Dre'Quan Priest and the rapper duo Real Dimez who are all connected to the Jack of Hearts strip club. They also work with experienced bank robber Raul Bautista and pull off several heists.

Jason and Dre'Quan

Story and Lore Details

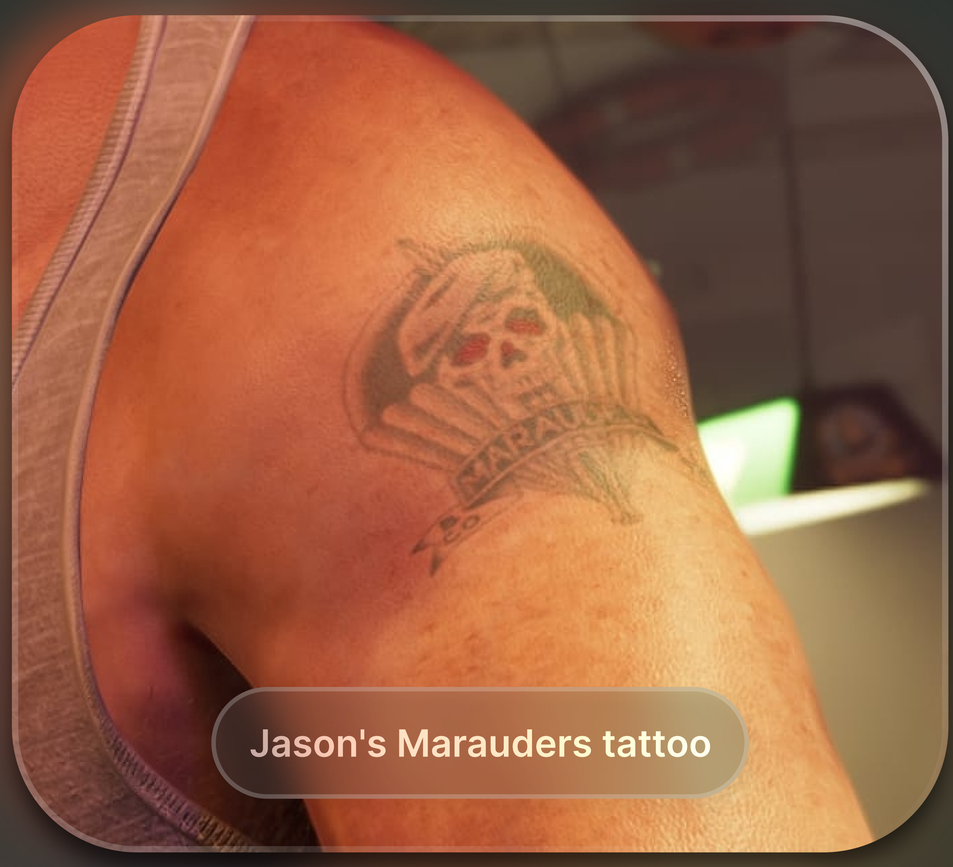

JASON'S KEY LENTO SAFEHOUSE

1. The safehouse is an old stilt house, designed to keep the house above flood waters during hurricanes.
2. The house has a slip for keeping boats inside.
3. There is a pet snake in a terrarium inside the house.

CHARACTER TATTOOS AND ACCESSORIES

A Marauders tattoo is visible on Jason's shoulder. Today, the 75th Ranger Regiment, created in 1969, during the Vietnam War, serves as part of SOCOM, the U.S. Special Operations Command. It descended from Merrill's Marauders, the elite unit formed in 1943.

Jason's Marauders tattoo

Jason also has a tattoo on his right side of the torso, which appears to be an eagle being wounded by an arrow. Eagle Wounded by an Arrow is a fable, whose earliest mention was a brief reference in The Myrmidons, a lost tragedy of Aeschylus written in the 5th century BCE. A reference to the fable also appears in a mountain landscape by Anne-Louis Girodet, dated somewhere around 1793–1795. In the painting, an eagle pierced by an arrow lies at the bottom of the scene, as a long snake crawls over the rocks toward it.

Jason's second tattoo

- Brian has Lori's name tattooed on his fingers from his left hand.

- Cal Hampton has a tattoo of Piggsy from Manhunt on his right leg, along with another tattoo on his left leg that could be a reference to either Count Orlok, who was also believed to be referenced on a grave in the Dukes Cemetery in GTAIV, or a fourth wall-breaking character from GTA2 who introduces the player to the game mechanics, nicknamed The Guider by the community.

- Lucia wears a golden boxing glove necklace.

CHARACTER TATTOOS AND ACCESSORIES

- Dre’Quan has a 19 tattoo on the back of his right hand, the same number featured on his Manatees T-shirt. On his right arm, he has a matching tattoo with Boobie: a money bag marked with a dollar sign, and the phrase “Stay Humble” inked on the same arm. The back of his left hand bears another tattoo that reads, “Win some, lose some.” He also wears a gold necklace with the Only Raw Records logo.

- Roxy has a tattoo on her forehead that reads “Blessed”.

Story and Lore Details

OTHER LORE DETAILS:

An iguana wearing a T-shirt is seen in the opening shot of Trailer 2 outside of Jason's safehouse. In the Cal Hampton 02 and the Leonida Keys 02 screenshots, the same iguana appears around the neck of a woman, but this time wearing a crown. Both are the same woman, which also implies that she is an important character in the game. In the Leonida Keys 03 screenshot, you can also see an old man kissing a woman. This man also seems to be the one from Trailer 2 - 1:19, behind Jason and Lucia.

Hurricane Roxy impacted the Leonida Keys, as shown in Trailer 2 at the 1:30 mark. The text on the sign reads, 'HURRICANE ROXY WAS THIS STRONG,' the line indicating that the water level rose at a pretty high level, above the neck of a person. The Florida Keys has been affected by many hurricanes over the years. In 1998 Hurricane Georges came close to the Florida Keys, with its eye center passing 12 miles south of Key West. It made landfall with maximum winds of 104 mph, causing storm surges and heavy rainfall. A year later, there was a close call with a hurricane called Irene in the Upper Florida Keys.

Erin Henshaw is running for mayor in Ambrosia. His campaign endorses Allied Crystal, the company operating the town's sugar refinery. His campaign slogans seem to say: "Finally a politician with balls" and "The right choice for Ambrosia".

As pointed out by Saukko505, there is a floating light pole in Trailer 2 at 2:29.

An unfinished building was spotted by YANIS in Trailer 2 at 0:36.

The door reflection is missing in Trailer 2 at 2:17.

Attention to Detail

NPC activities and behaviour is more complex. They can be found sitting on docks, laying on pool chairs and walking through more paths. They can be seen riding in the beds of pickup trucks. They have camera tripods on the beach to record themselves. Roadside workers work on the side of roads. When Jason exits the store as a woman enters, she subtly slides past him to avoid bumping into him, suggesting more natural NPC pathfinding and avoidance. An NPC can be seen carrying a metal detector on the beach in the Vice City 06 screenshot. NPCs can be seen having their arms hanging out of the windows in the Vice City 09 screenshot. In the Port Gellhorn postcard screenshot, one NPC is seen waiting for the train, while another with a pink hoodie is attempting to break into a blue Blista Compact. An NPC can be seen taking a picture of a cat in the Port Gellhorn 01 screenshot.

NPC activities

There is a bigger variety of licence plates seen on cars and bikes, from the Leonida, Gloriana and Liberty states. Older cars have older license plates.

Bunch of the license plates

Attention to Detail

- Muscle deformation can be seen on Jason. A detail also seen in Trailer 1 on Lucia, and in RDR2 on the horses.
- The ladder moves slightly with each step Jason takes.

- Brian's bracelet can be seen pushing down his arm hair in Brian Heder 01.

- A raccoon can be seen rummaging through a trash can. A detail which we also know from one of the World Events in the September 2022 leaked footage.

- Tire marks on the road accurately reflect real tire patterns.
- Brian's vehicle leaves visible tire tracks in the ground after it drove through the puddles.

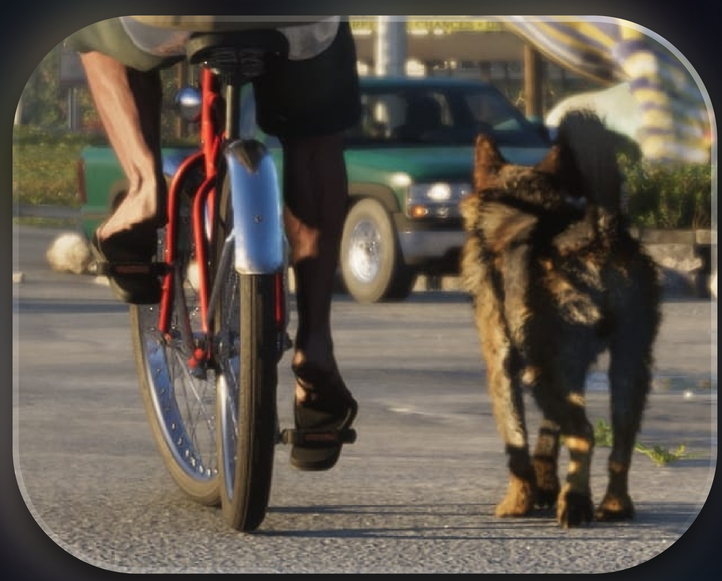

Attention to Detail

- Vehicles accumulate dirt in a more realistic manner. The hood of Brian's truck is covered with salt stains, common in Florida.

- The flip-flops are flopping, a detail also seen in GTAV. But this time, the flip flops of NPCs can also be seen under their bike pedals as visible in the Leonida Keys 02 screenshot.

- Characters have visible body hair, and sweat builds up gradually across their bodies in response to exertion or heat.

- Some NPCs, including Jason, have sunburns. A detail also seen in Trailer 1. Sunburns are distributed unevenly across the body and can vary in colour.

Attention to Detail

- Jason’s hair reacts naturally when wet, either from water or sweat, curling and clumping around his neck.

- Leaves pile up along the edges of roads and buildings.

- The steering wheel in Jason’s Vapid is worn and cracked from prolonged exposure to heat.
- Jason is seen tapping his fingers on the steering wheel to music.
- Car windows are shown in various partially rolled-down positions.

- The dirt reacts realistically to the air being blown by an NPC’s leaf blower.

- Jason’s shorts and tank top feature distinct folds depending on his stance, left leg movement, right leg movement, or standing still.

Attention to Detail

- A six-pack of beer that Jason carries sloshes realistically, likely using a liquid simulation shader, similar in concept to Half-Life: Alyx, but more primitive for the sake of performance.

- A detailed arrest scene is happening, with several suspects being held and police talking to bystanders. In the Vice City 03 screenshot, you can see down the street, a criminal duo from which one is surrendering while the other attempts to make a run for it. The police have split their focus accordingly. All of these highlight the improved law enforcement behavior also hinted at by multiple World Events from the September 2022 leaked footage.

- Opening a cash register causes coins to spring forward as individual, physics-enabled objects.

Attention to Detail

- The stomach of the prison officer moves as he breathes to talk.

- Beds, pillows, and couches react convincingly to pressure.

- Glasses diffuse and distort the image, likely using a shader effect. However that can be an issue, as such shaders that rely on SSR sometimes refract incorrect elements.

- Lucia's safety vest is reacting properly to the light.

- Condensation can be seen on one of the beer bottles from Jason’s coffee table, the other one which is open shows foam and fizzing.

- Wooden floorboard imperfections with the bit sticking higher than the rest, very detailed work with the PBR materials.

Attention to Detail

- Jason’s safehouse appears to be under renovation early on, with more of the interior visibly completed in later scenes, suggesting time-based progression or upgrades.

- Trash and leaves float on the bodies of water.

- The sole of the shoes realistically bend.
- The story’s characters are seen wearing different clothes, accessories, and hairstyles in almost every scene.
- Dollar bills feature portraits of presidents from Red Dead Redemption 2.

Attention to Detail

- Jason in the Buzzard Attack Chopper has only one of the hands of the cyclic, which it’s realistic as you should have the right hand on the cyclic and the left one on the collective, the lever that controls the altitude. In the past GTA games, the characters hold both of their hands on the cyclic.

- When the vault crashes into the tree, large chunks of the trunk and leaves fly off. As the vault is dragged along the road, it throws off a trail of sparks, which disappear once it slides onto the grass.

Attention to Detail

- Bullets impact the surface they hit more realistically. Sparks will come out when the bullets hit the fuselage of the helicopter, which is typically made out of aluminum alloys. Dust and pulverized material comes out of the ground when the bullets hit the asphalt.

- The characters' pupils constrict during the day and dilate at night. A detail also observed in RDR2.

- Jewelry has rigid body physics and inverse kinematics.

- Dust particles come out when Lucia is punching the bag in the Lucia Caminos 01 screenshot.

Attention to Detail

- As seen in the Vice City postcard screenshot, the color of the ocean water varies depending on the depth.

- In the Vice City 03 screenshot, the orange floaters on the canal prevent boats or debris from entering.

- The Bravado Gauntlet Interceptor from the Vice City 06 screenshot has visible water running down from it.

- The strip pole from the Vice City 07 screenshot has visible scratches and smudges.

- The boats in the Vice City 08 screenshot have lights on both their left and right side, green for the right side and red for the left side.

- An NPC can be seen blinking in the Vice City 09 screenshot.

- In the Port Gellhorn postcard screenshot, the train's interior lights are illuminated, and functioning signal lights are visible near the tracks. You can also see rain clouds in the distance implying that different parts of Leonida may experience different weather types compared to other parts of the state.

- In the Port Gellhorn 04 screenshot, you can see an NPC pushing a trolley containing plastic bags and a suitcase.

Attention to Detail

- In Raul Bautista's clip, you can see him realistically move his finger from the gun to the trigger before he fires.

- In the Ambrosia postcard screenshot, the vehicles are parked at a slight angle rather than perfectly aligned.
- In the Ambrosia 01 screenshot, there are raised reflective markers on the road, along with a support structure for a palm tree in the distance. One of the cable wires has an expansion loop, done intentionally to allow the wire to flex slightly when it’s expanded or contracted (by wind, temperature changes, or weight), preventing excessive force from transferring to the attachment points and reducing the risk of the wire snapping or the connections failing due to constant tension or stiffness.

- In the Ambrosia 03 screenshot, you can see on the nail polish of the female biker being chipped.

- A bicycle-only path appears at 2:33 in Trailer 2.

Attention to Detail

- In the Ambrosia 04 screenshot, you can see a highly controlled burn. The Allied Crystals it's based on U.S. Sugar, the largest sugarcane producer in the U.S., from Clewiston, Florida. In Clewiston, sugar cane fields are burned prior to the harvest to remove unneeded leaves and remove the highly flammable leaf trash that accumulates in the fields. These burnings account for less than 20% of controlled burns in Florida each year.

- The Ambrosia 05 screenshot shows how detailed the interiors are this time, a detail also seen in the September 2022 leaked footage and also in Trailer 1 with the Declasse Tulip. The dashboard of the Vapid Dominator features a detailed carbon-fiber-like finish and a central touchscreen display with fingerprints on it. Below the screen, radio interface buttons are visible, as well as physical climate control knobs and buttons, from which temperature dials and buttons for a climate system switch, an airflow direction mode and an AC switch. The steering wheel includes paddle shifters on the back. Behind the steering wheel, there are multiple circular gauges for the tachometer, speedometer, fuel, as well as oil pressure and temperature on the right side between the air vents. The material of the driver's seat is worn and rugged.

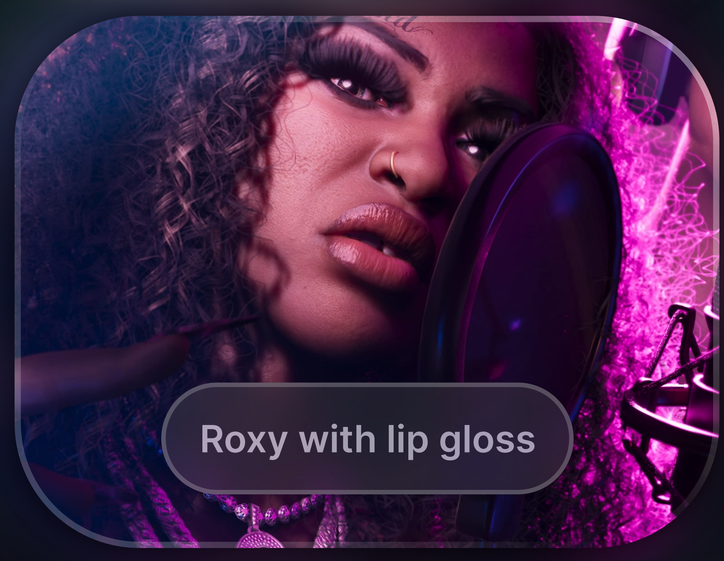

Attention to Detail

- Body armor is wearable both by player characters and NPCs.

- Lucia and Roxy can be seen wearing lip gloss and/or lipstick.

- Wearable life jackets can be seen on NPCs.

- During the cage fighting scene, none of the surrounding NPCs are seen using phones, and a bouncer can be seen at the entrance to the ring.

- Cobwebs are visible under the roof overhang of Jason's house. ((00:12)

Other Details

- Deeper Level of Player Customization: Jason is seen wearing his necklace either under or over his shirts and tank tops, and his glasses attached to his tank top in the Jason Duval 01 screenshot. Lucia has different fingernail lengths in her screenshots, and also different clothing layers like shirts and jackets over her white cropped tank top.

The following details might only be shown in cutscenes or screenshots.

- Diverse Driving Styles: In Trailer 2, Jason is shown driving with one hand on the wheel, hinting at the possibility of multiple driving styles.

Jason Drives with one hand only

- Workout Mechanic: In Trailer 2, Jason is seen lifting weights on the beach, which may suggest the return of the workout mechanic, reminiscent of the system from GTA: San Andreas.

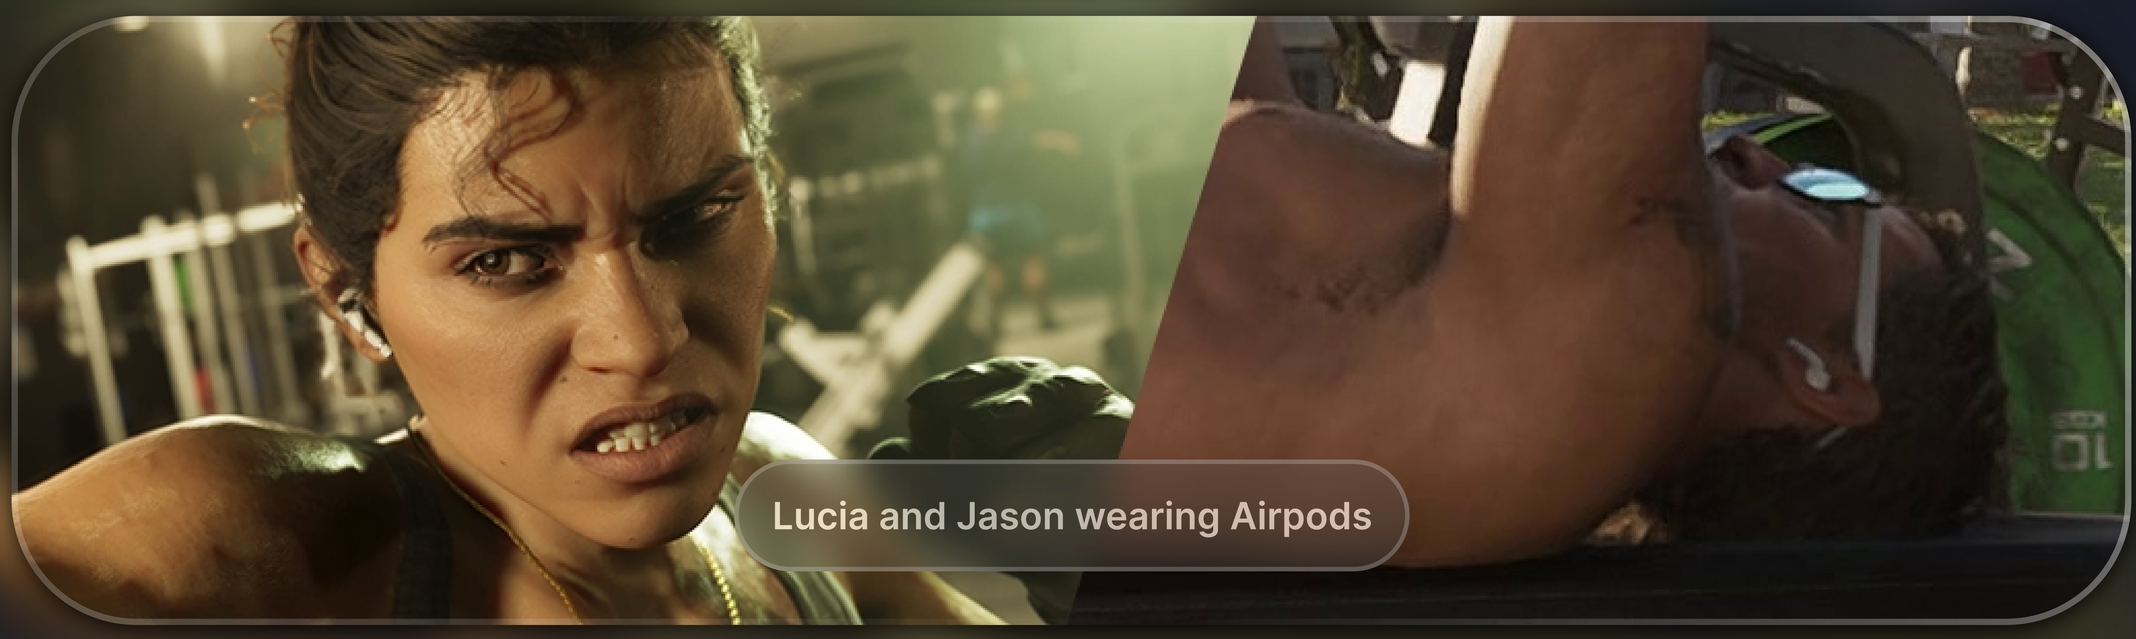

Jason lifting weights

Other Details

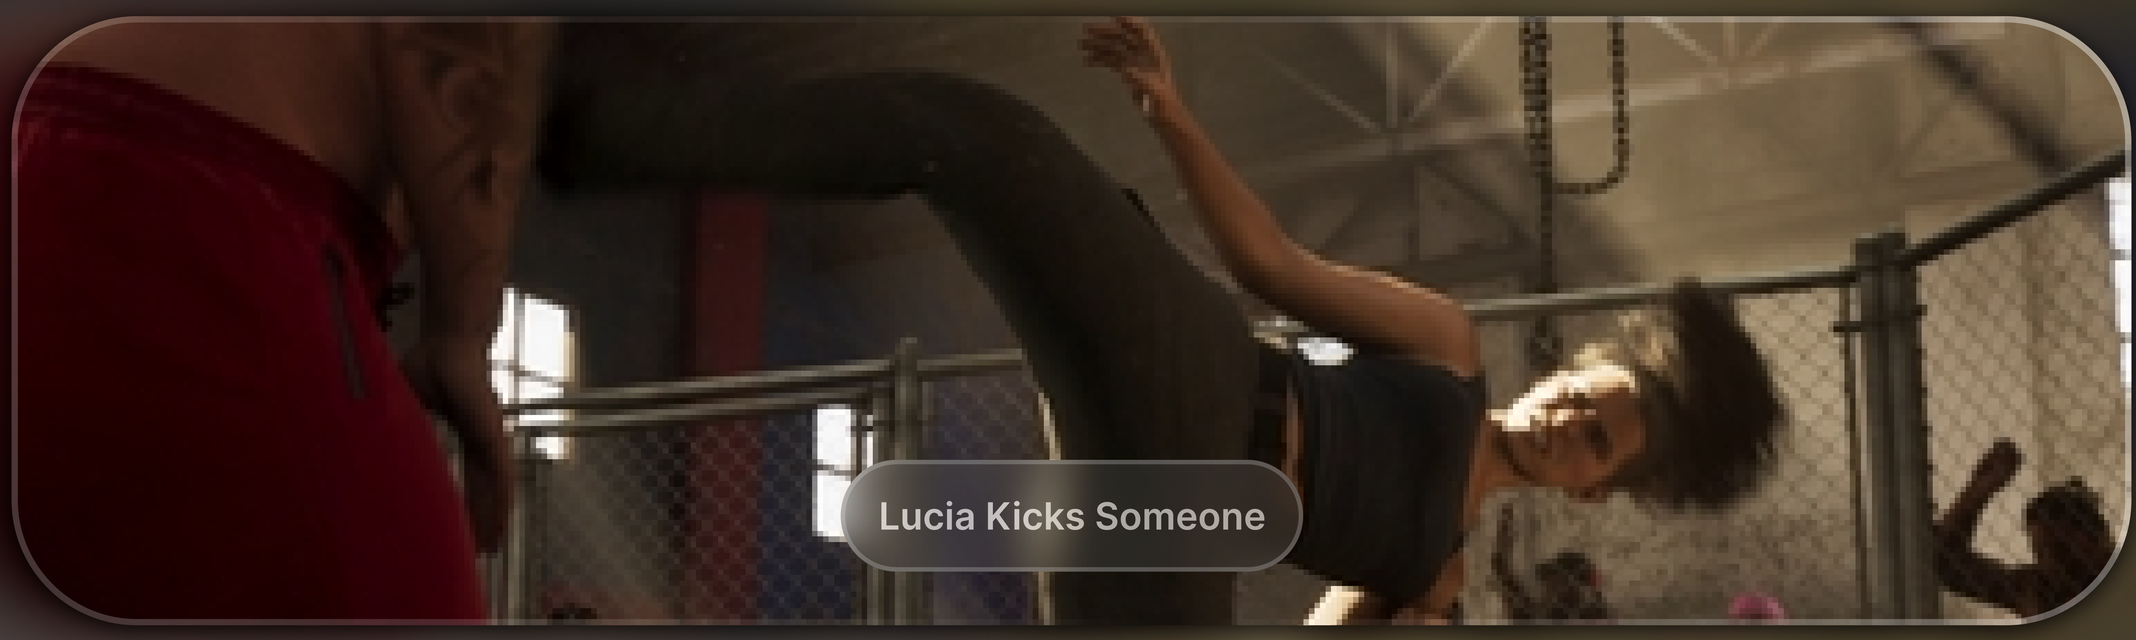

The following details might only be shown in cutscenes or screenshots.

- On-Foot Radio: Jason and Lucia can be seen wearing AirPods in both Trailer 2 and the Lucia Caminos 01 and the Lucia Caminos 02 screenshots. This might hint at a feature allowing players to listen to music and/or radio while on foot.

Lucia and Jason wearing Airpods

- Expanded Melee Combat: The hand-to-hand combat seems to be based on Red Dead Redemption 2's mechanics. In Trailer 2, Jason is seen shoving a man into a car, hinting at the use of environmental interaction in brawls. Lucia's underground fight scene, where she kicks an opponent, could point to the fight clubs returning, along with being able to kick NPCs while in hand-to-hand combat, like in GTAIV/V.

Lucia Kicks Someone

The following details might only be shown in cutscenes or screenshots.

- Advanced Weather System: The clouds in the Ambrosia 04 screenshot appear to be mature cumulonimbus incus, anvil-shaped clouds formed when powerful updrafts hit the tropopause and spread outward. The anvil clouds are common in supercells, the most powerful type of thunderstorms. The cumulonimbus formation on the left side of that screenshot appears to be more mature than the one on the right. There are no visible rotating updrafts (mesocyclones) in that screenshot, but there are what appear to be tornadoes in the distance. Stronger tornadoes develop from mesocyclones in the lower to mid-levels of a supercell. We do see more mature supercell structures in the Port Gellhorn postcard. There we can observe the inflow drawing into the storm's base, which supports strong updrafts and interacts with the RFD, the rear flank downdraft, a region of dry air wrapping around the back of a mesocyclone. There is also vertical development with overshooting tops and anvil tops.

Other Details

The following details are speculative, based on previous leaks, footage, and rumors, with their likelihood assessed using Trailer 2 footage.

- Deeper Level of Vehicle Repairing and Customization: In the last shot of Trailer 2, the red Declasse Tulip appears with a primer-grey passenger door, differing from its appearance in Trailer 1 where the door matched the car's body color. A similar detail is noticeable with Jason's Vapid Creado, when Jason exits the shop, you can see his Vapid having a mismatched front fender that contrasts with the rest of the car. We know from the September 2022 leaked footage, that the Vapid can have its front fender split apart. Midnight Club L.A. also had a similar mechanic called Quick Fix, in which damaged doors and other panels were replaced with primer painted parts until you go back to the garage and fully repair the car. The orange Benefactor saloon from Trailer 2 has swinger rims, a Texas thing. The blue Declasse Tulip-M100 from the Vice City 09 screenshot is donked-out, with the front ride height higher than the rear. The front suspension also sits lower than the rear, similar to what's seen on the green Canis truck in the Port Gellhorn 01 screenshot.

Other Details

The following details are speculative, based on previous leaks, footage, and rumors, with their likelihood assessed using Trailer 2 footage.

- Expanded Vehicle Controls/Options: In the Grassrivers 04 screenshot, faint marks on the windshield of the Bravado pickup truck suggest that the wipers may actually be functional. In the Ambrosia 05 screenshot, the vehicle's touchscreen display has icons for assist functions, navigation, audio, seating, climate control, and settings. From the September 2022 leaked footage, we know that certain interior elements, such as the steering wheel, seats, and rearview mirror, are individually movable objects. In the same vehicle interior from that clip, the display showed a navigation map with a placeholder texture from GTAV's map. In the Hank's Waffles robbery clip, there was a hint that appeared when Jason entered the police car stating: "Tap d-pad left to access the vehicle controls menu, or hold d-pad left to bring up the quick options". So this may be further confirmation of the expanded vehicle controls.

Other Details

The following details are speculative, based on previous leaks, footage, and rumors, with their likelihood assessed using Trailer 2 footage.

- Modular Weapon Customization: Weapons will probably require rails to equip optics or sights, similar to how it's handled in Ubisoft's The Division, or they have to be upgraded with rails to use sights or scopes. For instance, Lucia is shown in Trailer 2 during the Bank Heist holding a stock MP5 with only iron sights, while Jason is seen with the same weapon outfitted with rails and a red dot sight.

- Renting Bikes: In the Vice City 03 screenshot, you can see in the distance some rentable bikes. Maybe these bikes can be rentable by the player.

Other Details

The following details are speculative, based on previous leaks, footage, and rumors, with their likelihood assessed using Trailer 2 footage.

- Limited Weapon Inventory: In the last footage seen on the official GTAVI website, Lucia is seen retrieving a pistol from a car trunk. Coupled with the limited weapon wheel shown in the September 2022 leaked footage, this suggests a return to RDR2-style restricted weapon-carrying. Players will probably be able to store weapons, and potentially other items, in their vehicle's trunk. A jerry can and an american football ball are also visible in the trunk.

In-Game Devices and apps

PHONES

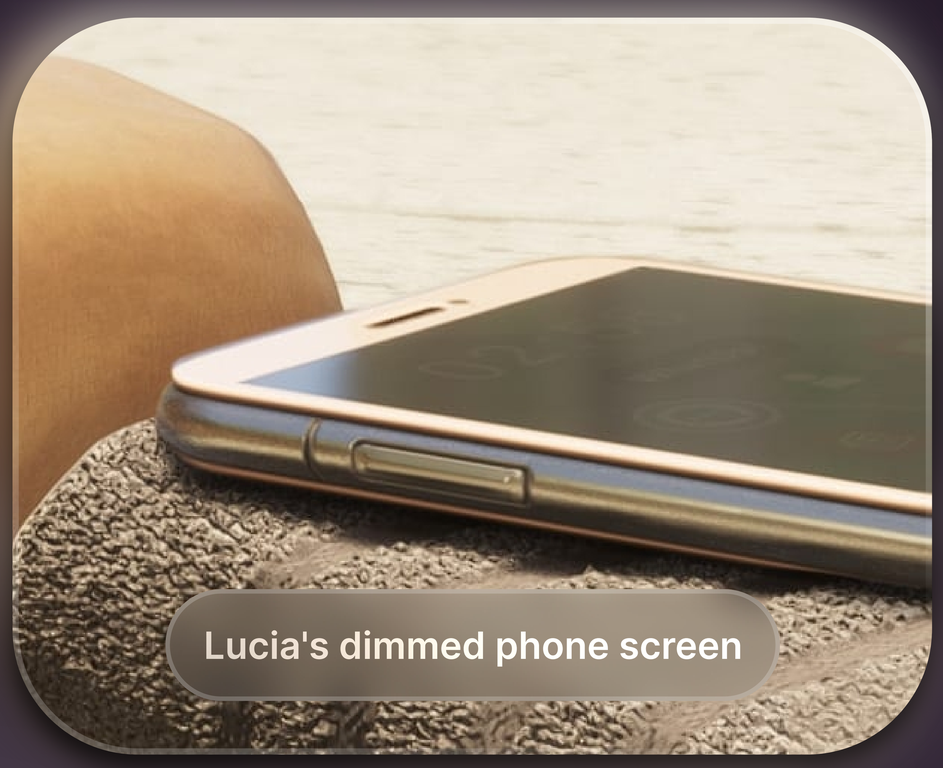

Thanks to screenshots provided by Rockstar, we now have a much more detailed look at the in-game phones.

The front design of some phones appears to be inspired by the Galaxy S4/S5, while the back resembles the iPhone X lineup.
The phones' designs vary—some feature flat edges with a metal band separating the front and back, reminiscent of the iPhone 4 and 12. Others have more curved shapes, similar to the iPhone X or 11. (Even one phone seems to be inspired by the iPhone 5c.)

In the Lucia Caminos 02 screenshot, there appears to be a phone with a dimmed screen, showing what looks like an interactive menu—similar to GTAV.

Visible Apps:

- Messages
  (possibly the "WhatUp!" app mentioned in the leaks or a simple texting app like in V)
- Contacts
- Snapmatic
- an Unknown app
  (maybe Email or LifeInvader)

In-Game Devices and apps

SNAPMATIC

In the newly reimagined screenshot scene from Trailer 1 of Real Dimez, we get a better look at one of the phones, which appears to be open on the Snapmatic app. The app displays an entirely different UI compared to the one shown in the first trailer. The current interface resembles a more functional in-game design, now featuring a bottom tab bar similar to TikTok and Instagram. Although the screen in the screenshot is somewhat blurry, we decided to recreate how it might actually look.

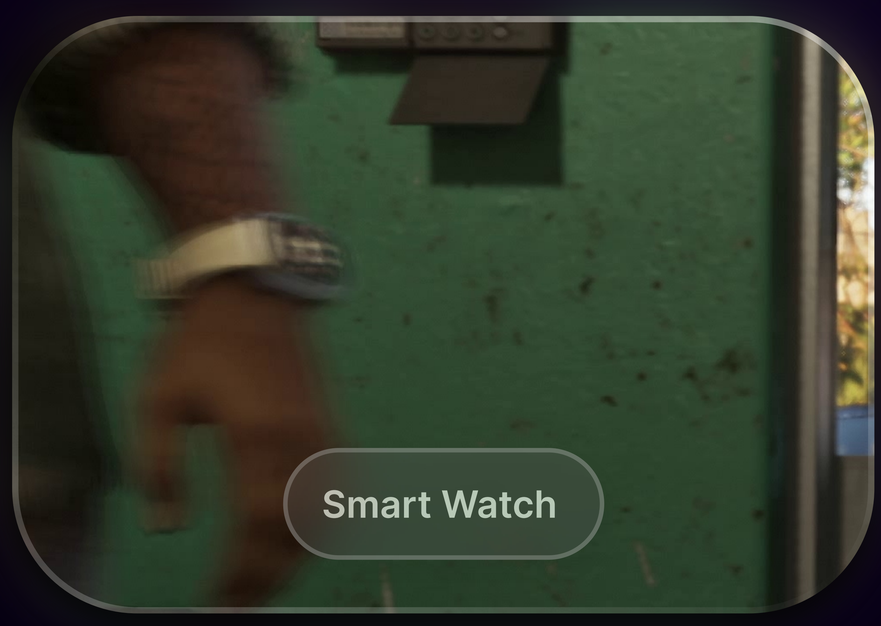

In addition, It seems that Snapmatic lives showcases latency between in-game time and the live preview on the NPC's phone.

WATCHES

Watches in GTAVI appear to be more advanced than in previous games, featuring an interface similar to an Apple Watch (similar to the one in GTAO). However, it's currently unknown whether players will be able to interact with them directly.

Smartwatch Behavior:

As Jason walks by with the six-pack of beer, the female NPC's smartwatch lights up the moment he passes—likely triggered by its motion sensor detecting his movement nearby.

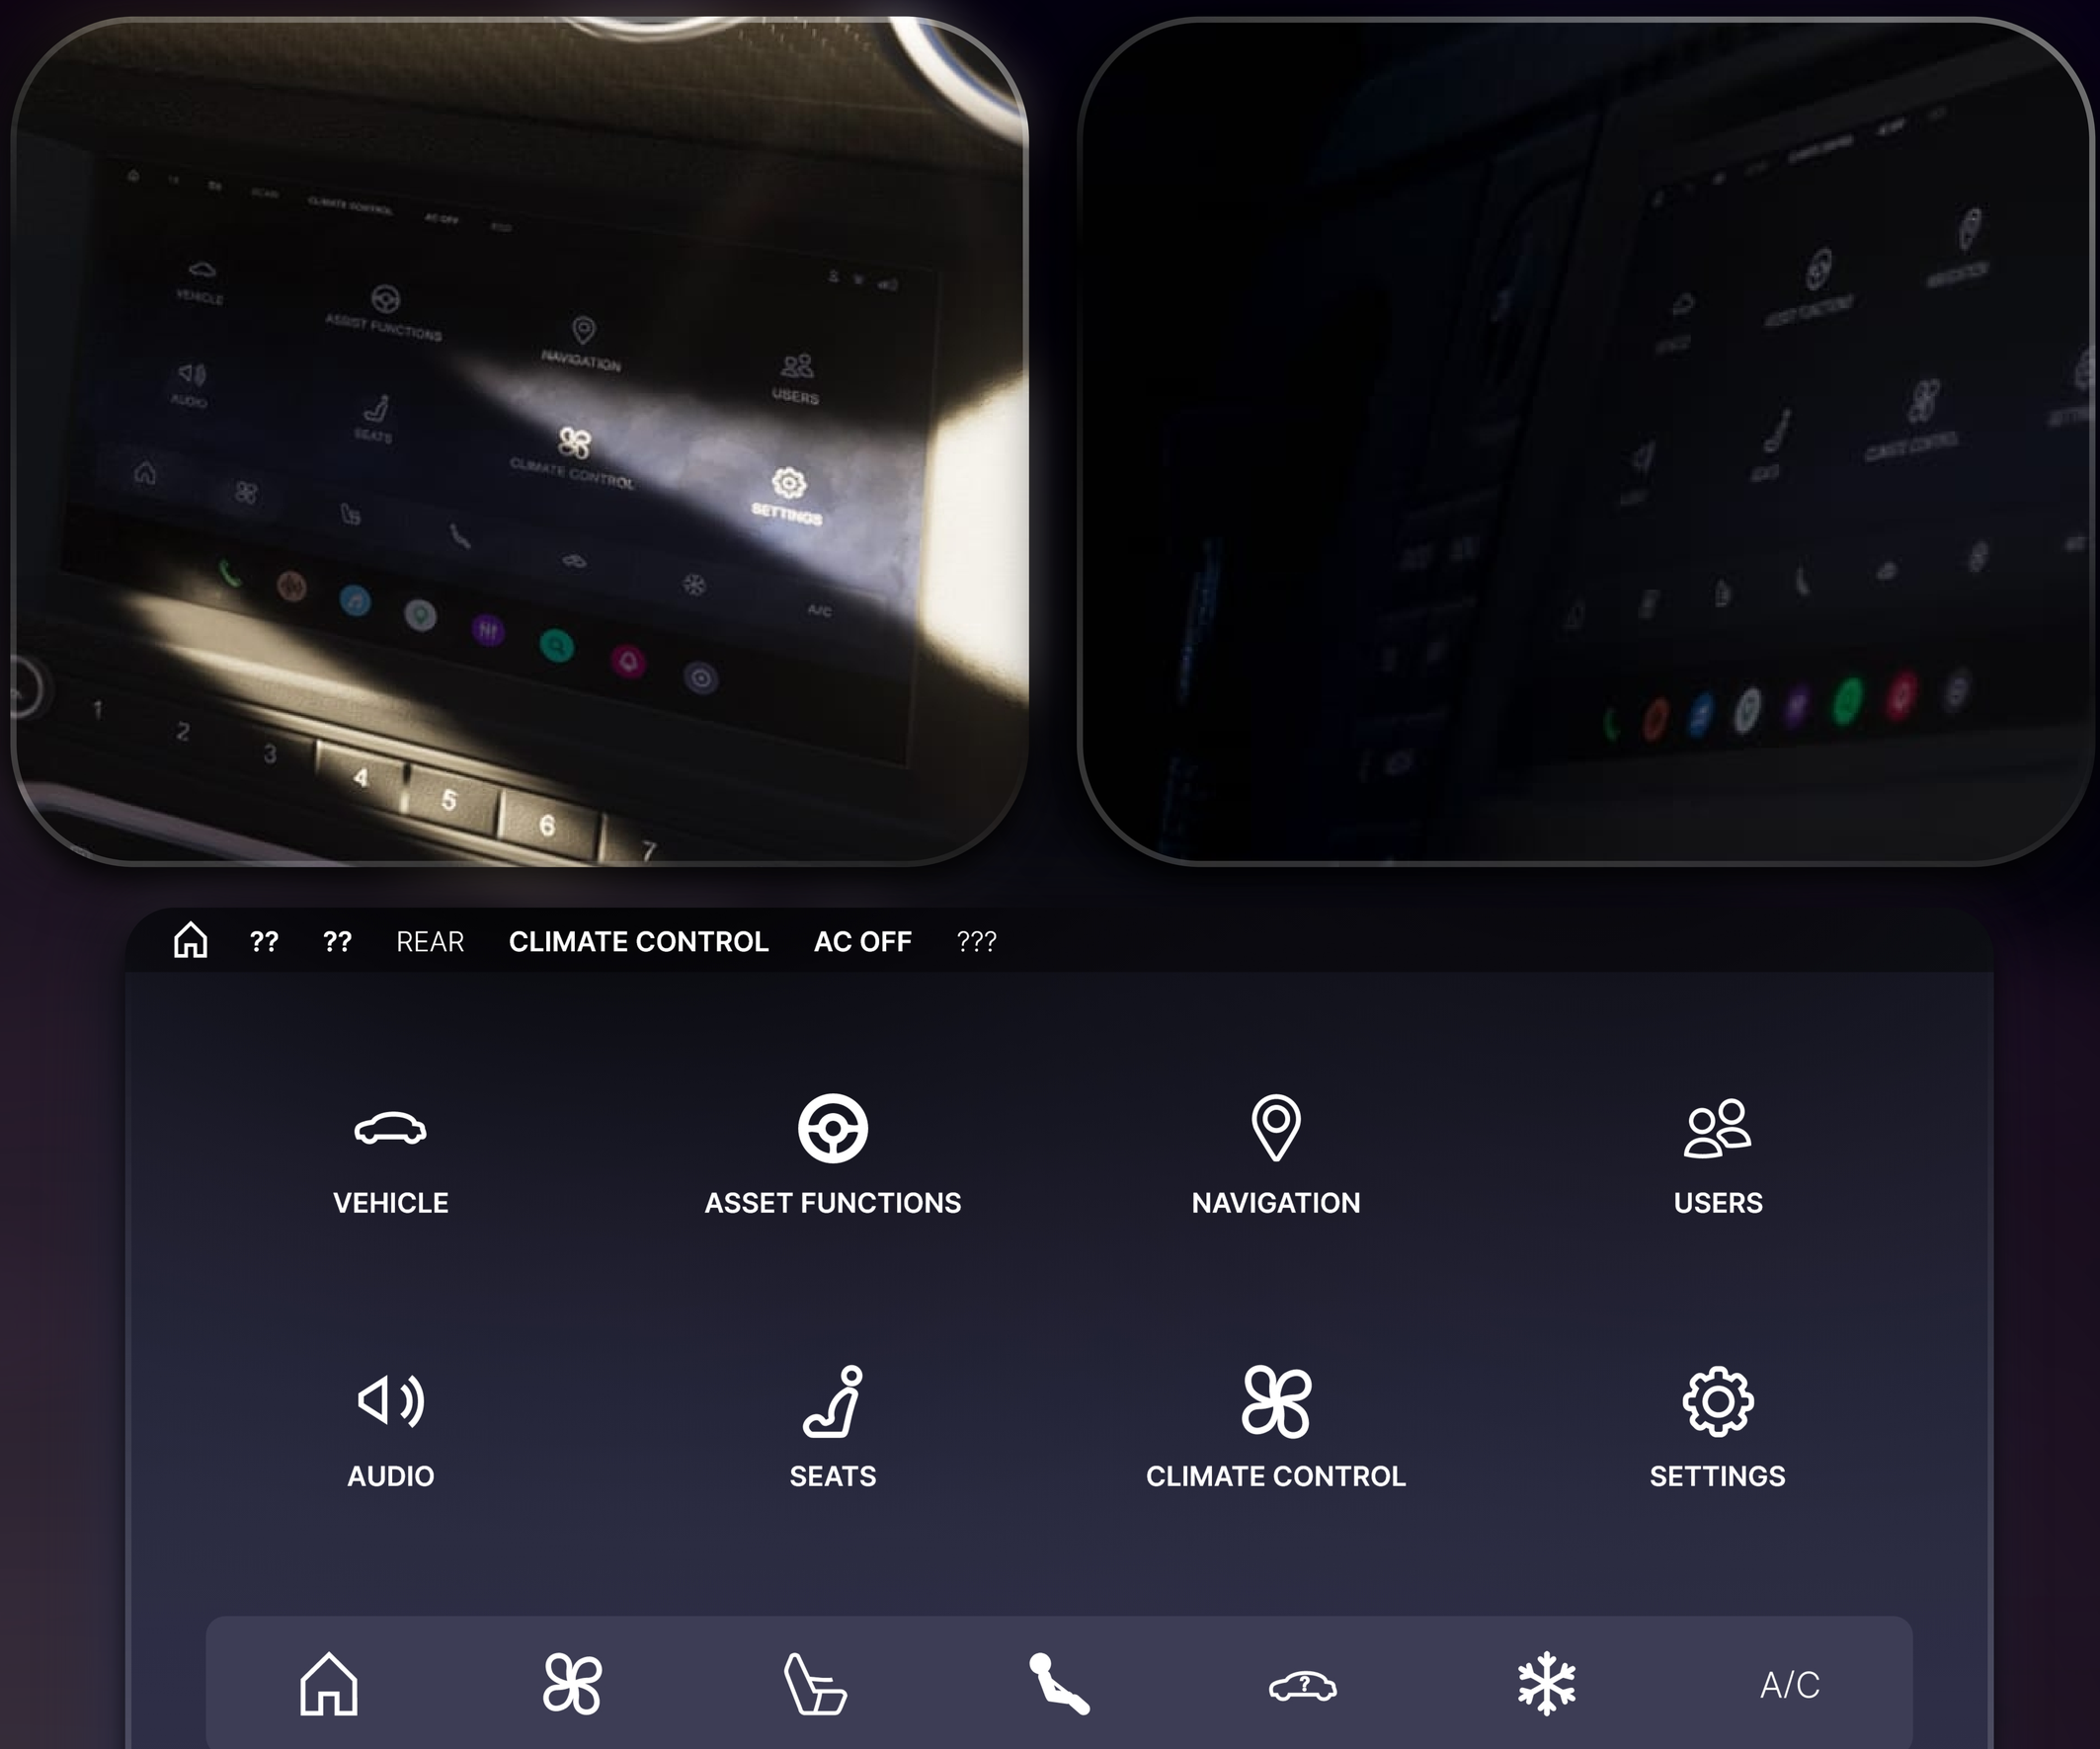

Dynamic Time Display

In Trailer 2 and in the other screenshots, watches appear to reflect the actual in-game time accurately.

CAR MULTIMEDIA PLAYER

In the Ambrosia 05 screenshot featuring Wyman, a glimpse of a car multimedia system can be seen next to him (can also be seen in Raul Bautista 02), seemingly heavily inspired by Tesla's interface. This feature already has been in development as seen in Americas 2022-09-13 17-17-43 from the September 2022 leaked footage, in which can be seen a Pegassi touchscreen display along with a placeholder GPS screen between the gauges. Whether these will have functionality remains unknown.

Soundtrack and Radio Stations

On top of this, the Jason clip on the VI website shows him wearing a T-shirt featuring the V-Rock logo, updated from its appearance in GTA: Vice City & GTA: Vice City Stories, potentially confirming the station's return in VI. V-Rock was previously referenced in GTA: EFLC on the Integrity 2.0 radio station mentioning that Lazlow "started as an intern on Vice City's V-Rock, then a full time DJ..."

The September 2022 leaked footage, as well as trailers 1 and 2, have given a strong insight as to what to expect for GTA VI's radio stations this time around.
As mentioned in the first VI document covering the leaks, Deep Purple's "Smoke on the Water" (1973) was heard playing in the clip Americas 2021-03-23 09-58-52.
This, alongside Tom Petty's "Love is a Long Road" (1989) from trailer 1, likely confirms that a classic rock station will be returning.

Jason wearing V-Rock Radio Station shirt

Additionally, Trailer 2 revealed six new songs as well seemingly:

- Jay Ferguson - "Thunder Island" (1977)
- Zenglen - "Child Support" (2004)
- Tammy Wynette - "Talkin' to Myself Again" (1987)
- Wang Chung - "Everybody Have Fun Tonight" (1986)
- The Pointer Sisters - "Hot Together" (1986)
- The Arrows - "I Love Rock 'n Roll" (1975) or Joan Jetts & the Blackhearts - "I Love Rock 'n Roll" (1981) (Speculation)

Soundtrack and Radio Stations

Based on the genres, it’s likely each song gives an insight as to what kind of other stations we are likely to see in the game.

Classic R&B/Soul or Disco/Funk: With confirmation of the Pointer Sisters returning after “Automatic” from Fever 105 in GTA: Vice City, it’s likely they’ll play on a station similar to that or to Vice City Stories’ Paradise FM, San Andreas’ Bounce FM, IV’s K109, and V’s Space 103.2, with other potential returning artists such as Rick James and Evelyn "Champagne" King (last heard in GTAV) or Kool and the Gang (last heard in GTA: San Andreas). Miami also has multiple such stations such as “Hot 105”, “The Disco Planet” and “The Disco Paradise”, the latter which has multiple variants.

Classic Rock or Soft Rock: The small snippet of Ferguson’s “Thunder Island” could be relegated to the classic rock station. This would be akin to how IV’s Liberty Rock Radio or V’s Los Santos Rock Radio tracklists were made a la a mesh of various rock genres. This one is likely given LSRR had an emphasis on soft/yacht rock.
It’s also possible that a separate station could be made just for this genre, while another station plays hard rock similar to V-Rock from Vice City & Vice City Stories. Artists such as Supertramp, Air Supply, Steely Dan, or even Jimmy Buffett (a Florida native) are likely to appear on the soft rock station, specifically “Margaritaville” by the latter given the tropical allusion and atmosphere.

Kompa and other Haitian music genres: The small snippet of Zenglen’s “Child Support”, a Kompa song, could be relegated to a radio station that plays Haitian music from genres as Kompa, Twoubadou and Mizik Rasin, a new type of station that gels nicely with the Vice City setting. This one is very likely considering Miami has “WSFR” and “Radio Mega”, the latter being one the largest Haitian radio stations in South Florida.

Soundtrack and Radio Stations

Country: The small snippet of Tammy Wynette's "Talkin' to Myself Again" suggests that for the first time in franchise history, we are likely getting a country station outside of the west coast setting from San Andreas & V. It's likely that this station will be similar to K-Rose in San Andreas and Rebel Radio in V (played another song from Wynette called "D.I.V.O.R.C.E"), but instead filled with southern artists, specifically those from Florida (e.g. Johnny Tillotson, the Bellamy Brothers, etc).

'80s Pop and New Wave: The return of Wang Chung, featured on the Flash FM station in Vice City & Vice City Stories, as well as the general connection to the '80s time period, likely confirms that a '80s pop/new wave station will be in the game, similar to Vice City FM from The Ballad of Gay Tony. The station may cover a broad range of the decade, ranging from pop rock to new wave, mixing Vice City's & Vice City Stories' Flash FM, Wave 103, and Emotion 98.3 into one station. Other artists potentially returning could include Hall and Oates, Phil Collins, Blondie, A Flock of Seagulls, Go West, Tears for Fears, Mr. Mister, Rick Springfield, Pat Benatar, Thompson Twins, Depeche Mode, New Order, etc.

Districts and Cities

In short, the new areas revealed or named are:

- State of Gloriana
- Ambrosia County
- Mariana County
- Key Lento
- Little Cuba
- Mount Kalaga
- Peacock Bay
- Southside
- Tequesta
- Tisha-Wocka
- Watson Bay

Some of the new areas

La Perle and Hamlet's locations were also confirmed, having previously been known about from the September 2022 leaked footage. The name Leonida Keys was also confirmed.

Gloriana is a new state that can be seen on at least 3 license plates, with a dolphin as the state symbol. This state is likely to be based on Georgia and it is currently unknown if it will be part of the game map.

Note: "GL" was seen on a license plate in the September 2022 Leaked Footage, likely being an early version of the Gloriana license plate.

Ambrosia County is seen on a sign in the Ambrosia 01 screenshot. Considering Ambrosia is mostly based on Clewiston, Florida it is likely equivalent to the real world Hendry County.

Mariana County is seen on a Port Gellhorn road sign in Trailer 2 (2:28). It is a possible equivalent to Monroe County, which contains the Florida Keys and Everglades. This possibly means Mariana County will hold the Leonida Keys and Grassrivers.

Districts and Cities

PLACES

The Rockstar Games website offers official names and descriptions for 6 places:
Vice City, Leonida Keys, Grassrivers, Port Gellhorn, Ambrosia and Mount Kalaga.
All are indicated to be in Leonida based on the “Visit Leonida” text on their postcards.

VISIT LEONIDA

Official description: Everything in Excess
We're a long way from the '80s, but Vice City is still the sun and fun capital of America. The glamour, hustle, and greed of America captured in a single city. Each neighborhood has something to offer, from the pastel art deco hotels and bright white sands of Ocean Beach, to the bustling panaderías of Little Cuba and the bootleg brands of the Tisha-Wocka flea market, out to the VC Port, the cruise ship capital of the world.

Neighborhoods and their (IRL equivalents) revealed include:

- Little Cuba (Little Havana)
- Peacock Bay (Coconut Grove)
- Southside (Brickell and Riverside)
- Tequesta (Brickell)
- Tisha-Wocka (Opa-locka)

Districts and Cities

La Perle is inspired by Miami's Little Haiti neighborhood. La Perle’s name means "The Pearl" in French. Port-au-Prince, Haiti's capital, was once known as the "Pearl of the Antilles" during the colonial era due to its beauty and wealth as the richest colony in the Caribbean under French rule - The name was also previously mentioned in some of the World Events from the September 2022 leaked footage, but the community was not sure if it was a part of Vice City or not.

Hamlet is likely the Homestead-inspired town near the Keys, and it is uncertain if it is considered to be part of Vice City or not.

Little Cuba is inspired by Miami's Little Havana neighborhood. Little Havana was previously featured in GTA: Vice City and GTA: Vice City Stories, and was also referenced in GTAIV.

Tisha-Wocka is likely inspired by the city of Opa-locka in Miami-Dade County. The name "Opa-locka" is a shortened version of the Seminole place name, Opa-tisha-wocka-locka.

Tequesta is likely inspired by Miami’s Brickell neighborhood. The name “Taquesta” references the Native American Tequesta tribe, who once inhabited Florida’s Southeastern Atlantic coast, particularly around Biscayne Bay, near Brickell.

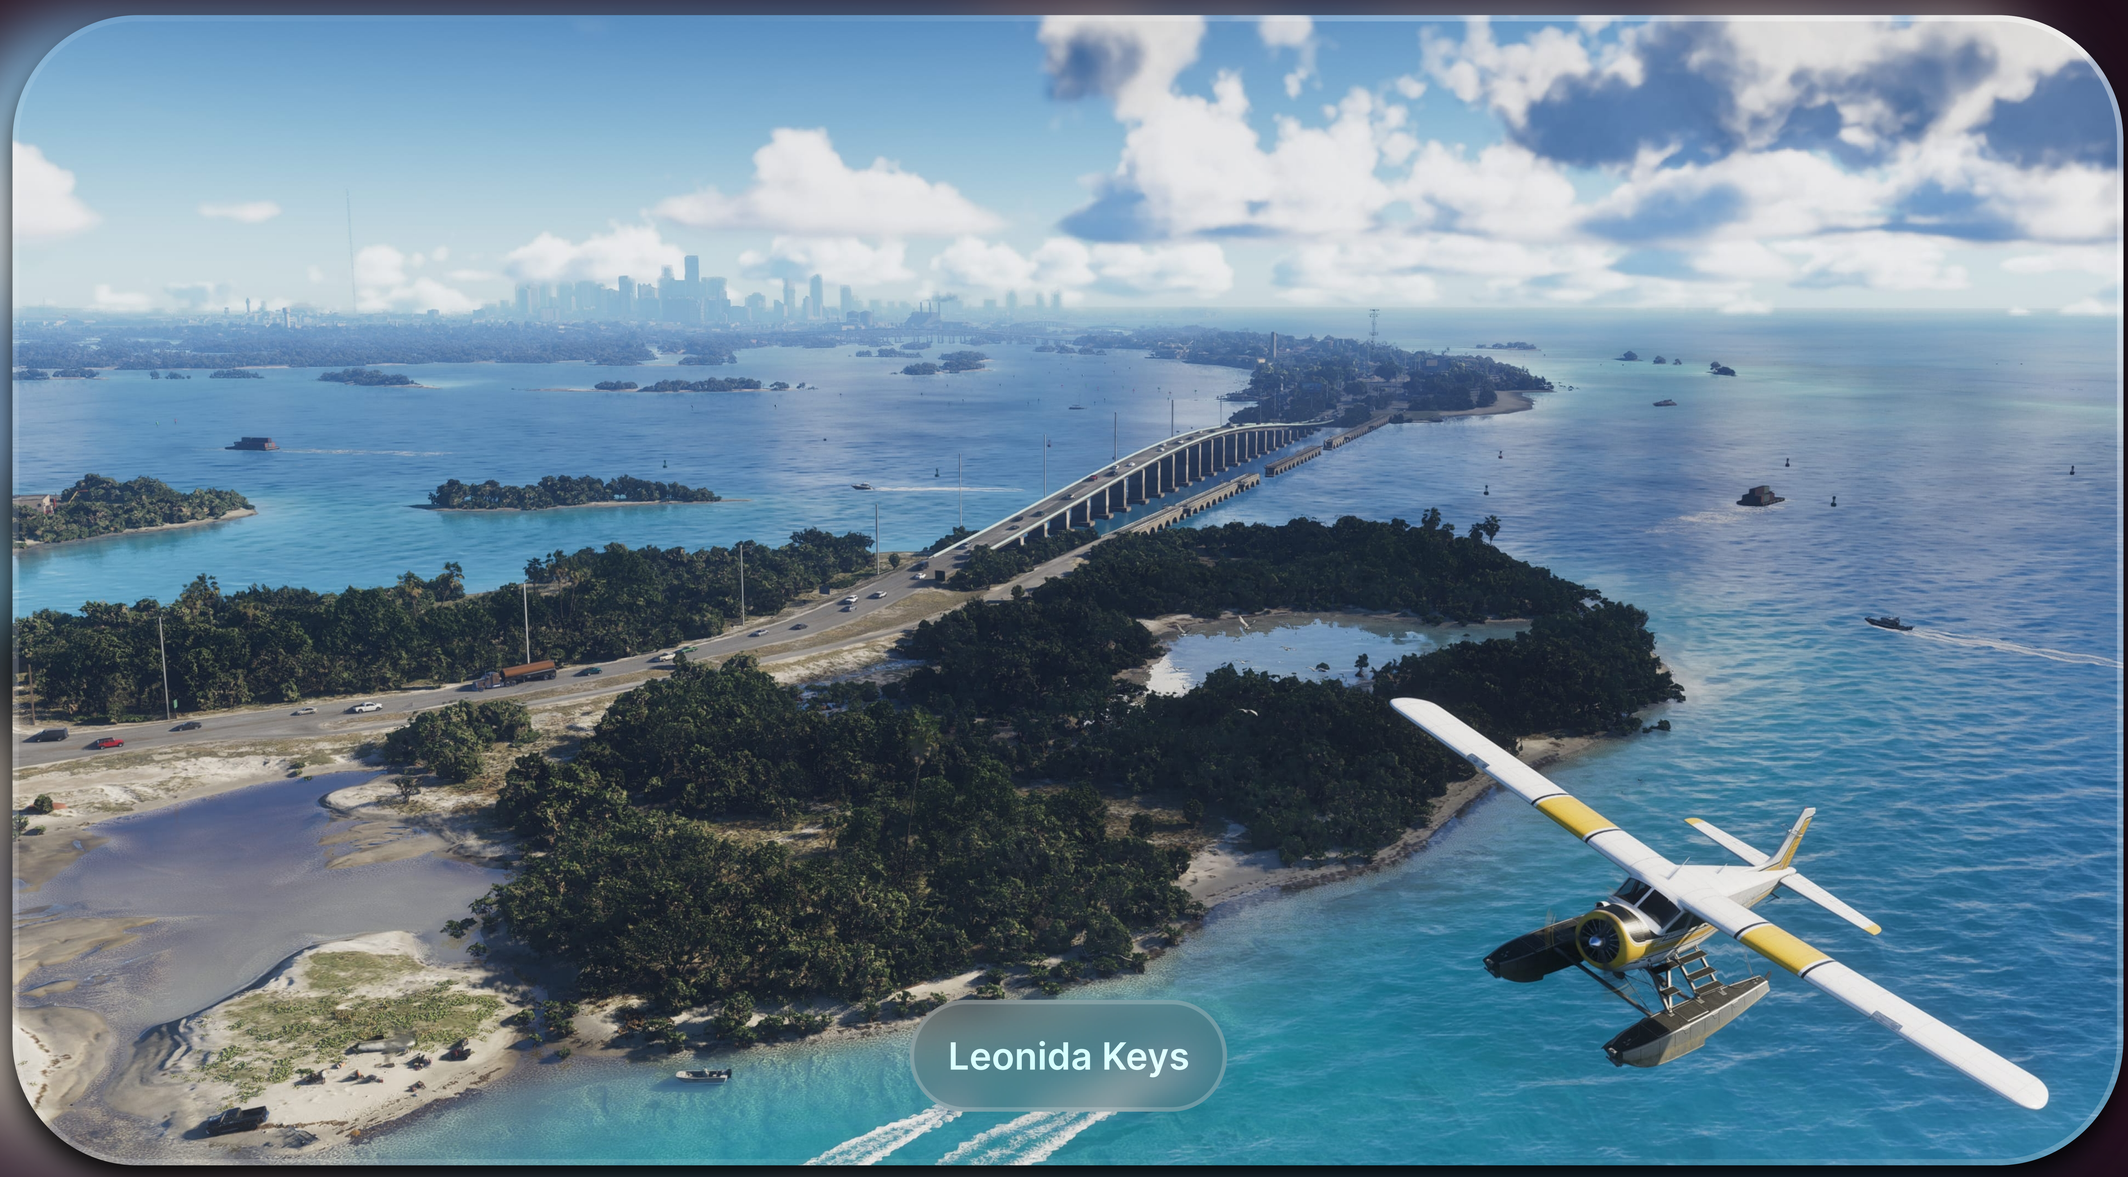

Peacock Bay is likely inspired by Miami's Coconut Grove neighborhood. Its name is drawn from Peacock Park, a waterfront public space in Coconut Grove, along the shores of Biscayne Bay, known for the Indian peacocks that grow there.

Districts and Cities

LEONIDA KEYS

Official description: Gateway to Paradise
The dress code is casual, the bars are loaded. Life in this tropical archipelago isn't flashy but it's easy. Get your buzz on and pull up a deck chair but look out — you are right on the doorstep of some of the most beautiful and dangerous waters in all of America.

- Based on the Florida Keys.
- The largest town known so far is Key Lento, which is currently estimated to be three times the size of Paleto Bay from GTA V.
- Notable animals include eels, iguanas and sea turtles.
- There is a distant air traffic control tower and radar towers visible in the opening shots of Trailer 2.

Districts and Cities

GRASSRIVERS

Official description: Welcome to the Wetlands
The untamable jewel of Leonida's crown. You never know what lies beneath the surface of this primordial expanse. The gators may be the most famous attraction, but there are far deadlier predators and weirder discoveries among the mangroves.

- Based on the Everglades in Florida.
- First mentioned in the September 2022 leaked footage, with its name only officially being confirmed in the May 2025 screenshots.
- Only known town so far is Watson Bay, based on Cedar Key and Everglades City, Florida.
- Watson Bay possibly has a fire station and is around the size of Paleto Bay from GTAV.*
- Animals seen in the area include alligators, boars, bobcats, deer, ducks, flamingos and a brown mammal that is possibly a beaver or nutria.
- The World Events from the September 2022 leaked footage mention fracking in the area and a plane crash.

Districts and Cities

Port Gellhorn

Official description: Live Hard
This is Leonida's forgotten coast. Cheap motels, shut-down attractions, and empty strip malls won't bring the tourists back, but there's a new economy in this once-popular vacation spot. It's fueled by malt liquor, painkillers, and truck stop energy drinks. Jump on a dirt bike and hold onto your wallet.

- Mainly based on Panama City, Florida. With some structures taken from Tampa and Miami.
- Notable structures seen include the Crossroad Park Minimal, Delights Cabaret, Gellhorn Roadhouse, Starlet Motel, a train station, a drawbridge and a large industrial area.

AMBROSIA

Official description: Keeping Leonida Sweet
The battle for the health and wealth of Leonida begins here.
In the heart of Leonida, American industry and old school values still reign supreme — whatever the cost. The Allied Crystal sugar refinery provides the jobs, while the local biker gang provides almost everything else.

- Mainly based on Clewiston, Florida. Some structures are based on structures in Orlando, Florida.

Districts and Cities

Mount Kalaga National Park

Official description: Wild, Wild Country
Room to breathe on the state's northern fringes. A national landmark up against the state's northern border, Mount Kalaga offers prime hunting, fishing, and off-road trails. In the lush surrounding backwoods, hillbilly mystics and paranoid radicals live far from the prying eyes of the government.

- Based on the Providence Canyon State Park, Georgia.
- Animals seen include cougars*, deer, foxes, raccoons and squirrels.
- The area has likely seen wildfires and floods in the past.
- There are several highways, bridges and railways going through the area.

*Only area so far seen to have cougars
